INTRODUCTION

We, the Seniors of nineteen fifty-one, consider it a great honor to continue the heritage of this yearbook.

We have tried to give you an accurate, attractive and inspiring record of the 1950-1951 school year as it has been lived at Warner Robins High School.

In the future may this book be a constant and permanent reminder of that phase of our lives that cannot be relived except in memory.

To our sponsors, to the student body, to the business establishments who supported us financially, we wish to express our fondest appreciation.

For her continuous help in, and understanding of our various problems and in recognition of her faithfulness to her work, we dedicate this annual to:

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We are gathered here upon this solemn occasion to read the Last Will and Testament of the Class of 1951 of Warner Robins High School.

Listen, then, one and all, while I read the document, as duly drawn up and sworn to:

We, the class of 1951 in thirteen individual and distinct parts, being about to pass out of a crammed-mind, well-trained memory, and almost super-human understanding do make and publish this, our last will and testament, hereby revoking and making void all former wills or promises by us at any time heretofore made.

Item 1: We bequeath to our friends and instructors, the faculty, our appreciation for the understanding shown by them during our four years of high school.

Item 2: We bequeath to our beloved superintendent, Mr. Bert Rumble, our sincere gratitude and also our respect for him that we may not have shown in the past, for his untiring efforts in trying to make us better students and better people.

Item 3: To our underclassmen, we give and bequeath the following items, great or small.

I, Ronnie Ratliff, will my high grades and gentlemanly ways to Johnny Peek . . . I, Brooks Berrie, will my love for girls of any sex to Johnny Swain . . . I, Theo Godfrey, will my reckless driving to Hubert Watson, in hopes that when I'm killed he will carry on . . . I, Charlcie Ann Bussey, being of sound body, will my love for all the boys to Jean Mitchell in hopes that she will keep up the good work . . . I, Johnny Peacock, leave my very strong effort to go with a certain girl all the time to Barbara Jones, in hopes that she succeeds . . . I, Richard Peebles, leave my ability to chew gum in Mrs. Mason's class to John Atkins . . . I, Winifred Lewis, will my northern brogue to Maribel Young . . . I, Billy Douglas, leave my ability to argue to Ann Byars . . . I, Bernice Wood, leave my struggle in shorthand to Pat Roan . . . I, Kitty Gaultney, will my love for sports to Barbara Ann Wills . . . I, Wyman Treadaway, leave a part of my ability to talk louder than anyone else in the English class to Bernice Davidson . . . I, Gwen Thompson, just leave quietly.

March 1, 1961

My Dear Mrs. Mason:

It has been almost ten years since I have seen or heard from you and I thought you might like to know the results of your greatest accomplishment (graduating thirteen seniors back in 1951!).

Whether it was by chance or by that "happening" some people call fate, I don't know. But as I was coming out of the High Museum of Arts, where I am now an instructor, I bumped into the postman making his daily rounds. He gave me the latest edition of "Who's Who in America." Since I had nothing in particular to do and plenty of time, I decided to glance through it. I thumbed through the pages and the first name to catch my eye was Charleie Ann Bussey. I suppose you remember her, the cute brownette who was so interested in basketball? Well, she was made the Athletic Director of William and Mary College. Now that I had seen a familiar name my curiosity really became aroused and I decided to read on. It also stated that Brooks Berrie is now a famous designer of automobiles with General Motors Corporation. Remember he was a grease monkey back in the good ol' days?

The biggest, but most delightful surprise of my life, was seeing where Billy Douglas has just completed his production of "I'd Climb the Highest Wall." They say this is really a true to life picture. It was actually filmed and directed within the walls of Sing-Sing.

You remember those three lads, Ronnie, Eddie, and Johnnnny, who were always wanting to be "sea-going bellhops"? Well, they finally made it. I saw where Ronnie Ratliff (formerly called Rat-lip), the one that gave you so many grey hairs, is now the Chief of Naval Operations in the Pacific. It also stated that he now designs all the Navy's submarines.

Eddie Matthews is now the Commander of South Pacific Fleet. (You know the ladies' man!) I have heard that he isn't married yet but is engaged to the girl he was going with when he graduated—seems like it was Pat Unger.

I was talking to Winiford Lewis the other day. He's a newspaper reporter here, and he said he got a letter from Johnny Peacock recently and he's on board the U. S. S. Missouri. He is an Admiral now. Johnny has a pet parrot now and calls it "Mason."

I know you will remember Richard Peebles, the boy who was always in a deep study (?). He is now a famous psychiatrist. He is scheduled to make a talk on "The Nature of Gun-Chewers" at the City Auditorium here next week. I know he is well up on that subject.

By the way, Theo (Hot-rod) Godfrey was named the "Winner of National Champion Automobile Races." Maybe his racing between Warner Robins and Perry paid off after all!

I guess you have heard by now that Wyman Treadaway has been nominated as a candidate for Presidency. Although he isn't quite the age that a president should be, they said he seemed to have so much more experience in politics than the average man that they would accept him. He is now the owner of Atlanta's newest and finest Arcades.

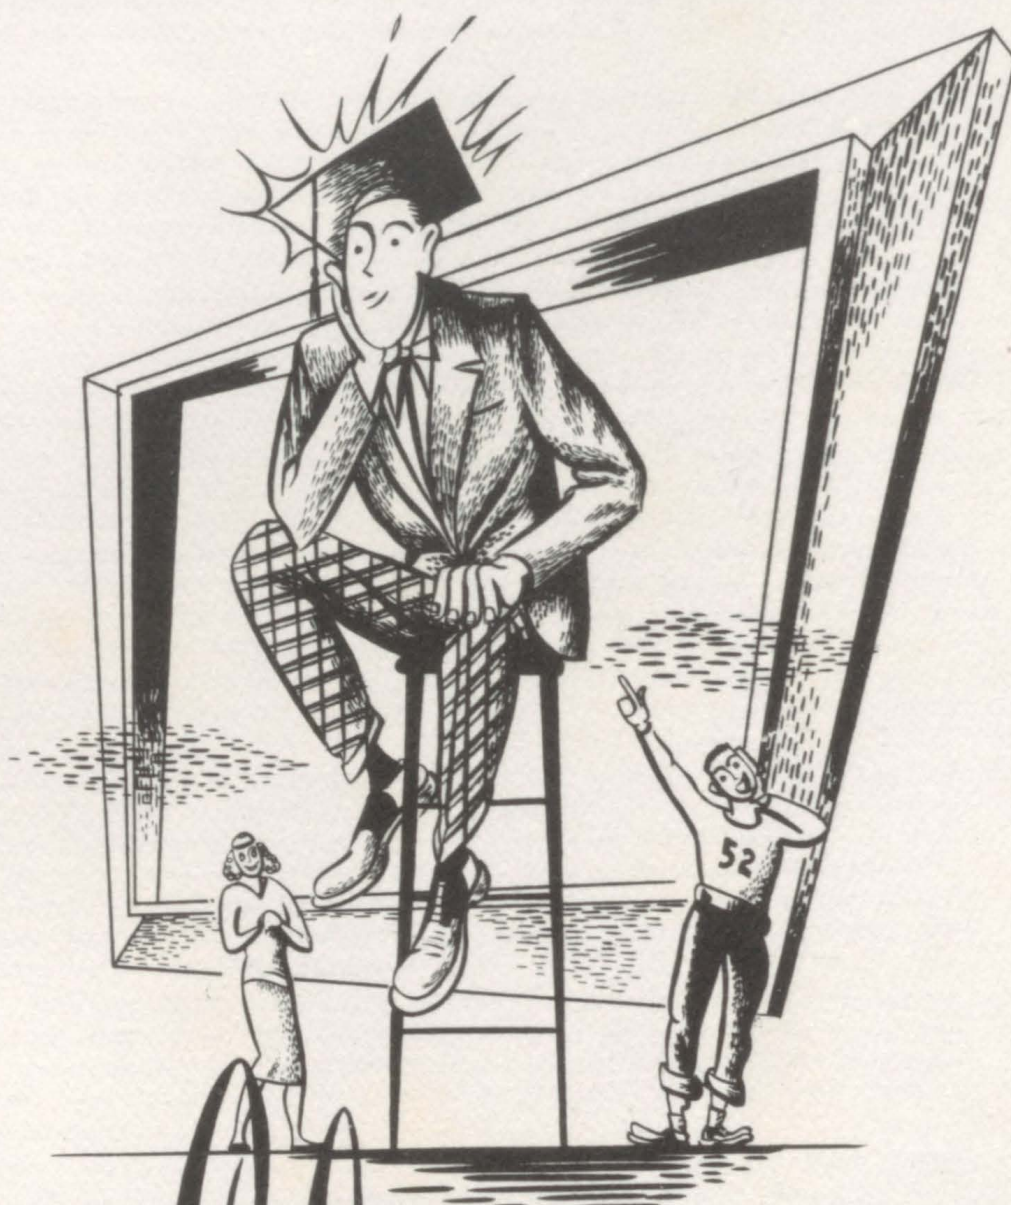

Well, Mrs. Mason, I guess this ends our little chat for this time since it is almost time for me to dress for a farewell party to be given in honor of Kitty Gaultney, who is a nurse with the armed forces. She is to be shipped overseas soon. Bernice Wood is going to sing for us. She is now a famous singer of popular songs. She also appears on the Lux Theater every Tuesday night as you probably know by now.

Please let me hear from you sometime—if you are allowed to write from Mill-edgeville.

Affectionately yours,

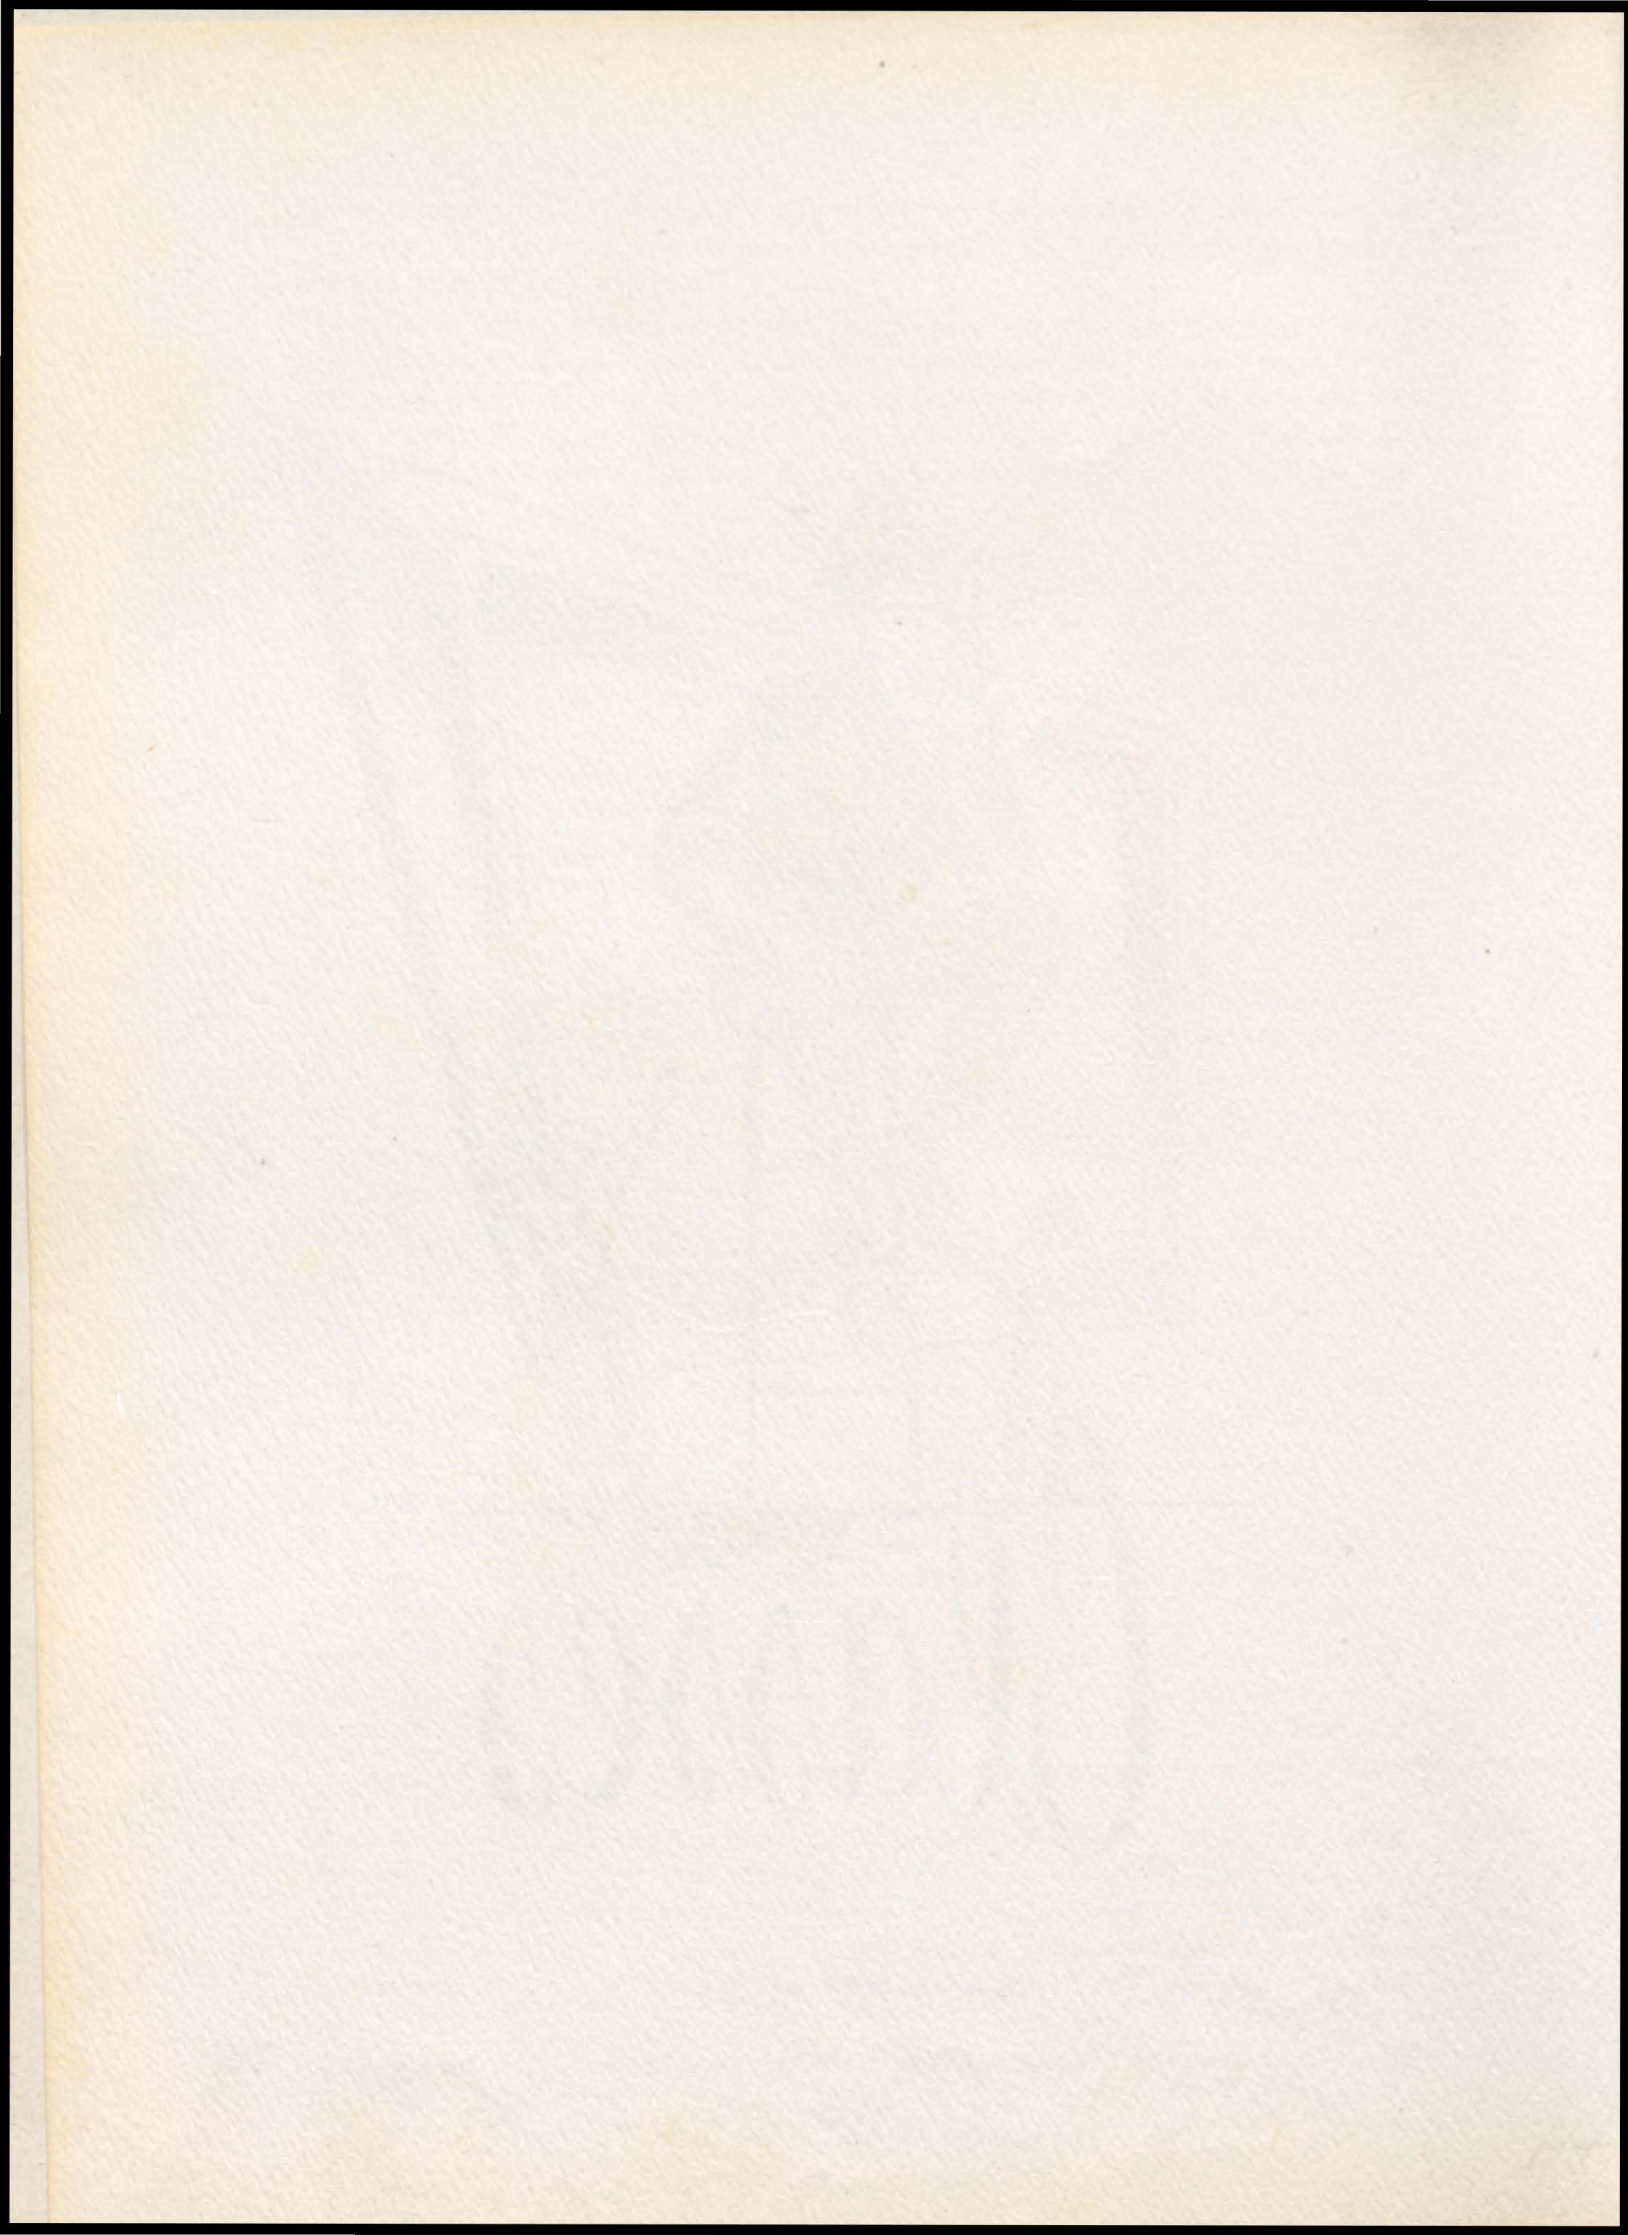

Gwen Thompson

CLASS HISTORY

One day while reminiscing over my greatest tasks and achievements, it came about in my mind that one of my most difficult achievements was being co-author of the class history of 1951. I thereupon set out to find my most cherished possessions, my 1951 "Pioneer." I found it gathering dust along with my high school diploma. I then picked it up, dusted off its bright red cover and seated myself in a nice, big easy chair. After glancing through the book, I turned to the page entitled Class History. There I found the result of my many efforts. For on one small page was written:

This is a history, not just any ordinary history, but the history of the birth of the Senior Class of 1951. It is a prologue to many lives. Of some who will become famous and whose names will be spoken with pride, and others who will make the nation's backbone—Mr. and Mrs. Average American.

We started our high school career as the freshmen in the newly created 8A, caused by the switch from the eleven to the twelve grade system. It was composed of 30 members, all of whom were either set up or set back a grade due to the change of systems. Although we felt unnecessary, we were still full of high school spirit, and determination to leave an impression in the history of this school never to be forgotten. We spent our first year in high school adjusting ourselves to our new glory, a high school student.

Well-seated in the science lab among the aroma of acids, bases, and salts, we began our second year in high school. To begin the year right, we elected the class officers with Richard Peebles, president, Sid Carter, vice-president, and Chris Haydis, secretary, under the supervision of Mr. Joe Bacon. During our sophomore year we did nothing outside the routine of daily school life and like all sophomores, we looked forward to our junior year.

At last we became juniors, as most sophomores do, and looked a lot of hard work right in the face. Our first major activity was to elect the class officers. Sid Carter was elected president, Wyman Treadaway vice-president, Bernice Wood secretary, and Wynell Pittman treasurer. With this task completed, we began to plan our Hallowe'en Carnival, the main attraction being a one-act play, "The Haunted Clothesline," which was a hilarious success. We then started breaking the traditions that for so long have dominated the juniors and seniors. We gave the seniors their choice of either a barbecue or a formal banquet and with the barbecue we were to give them all the excess money in the treasury. They accepted the barbecue (I wonder why?). It was a large success enjoyed by all, including Mr. L. W. Tabor, our newly-elected county superintendent.

At last we attained the height of our high school career. Our somewhat diminishing class had reached a surprisingly low of 13 students. This was quite a decrease from our 18 juniors, creating the smallest senior class ever known and possibly ever will be known in the history of W. R. H. S., thus breaking the tradition of an increasing senior class. Then we reluctantly followed an old tradition, we elected class officers. As president, Wyman Treadaway succeeded Sid Carter; as vice-president, Billy Douglas succeeded Wyman Treadaway; Charlcie Ann Bussey was elected secretary; and Bernice Wood, treasurer.

We inherited a most dilapidated coke machine, on which we spent most of our profits keeping it repaired. On the subject of making improvements, we also made a few on "The Chirp" and the "Pioneer," the outstanding ones being the covers of each. The publishers of the annual and the type of print were also changed from J. W. Burke to Josten's and from regular print to lithograph, which produces better pictures.

To the amazement and disappointment of many, the seniors won the King and Queen contest of the school with Charlcie Ann Bussey as Queen and Wyman Treadaway as King.

Due to the large amount of work and the small amount of profit, we decided not to have a Sadie Hawkins' Day Dance or the traditional senior dance (another tradition we changed).

To balance our budget we sold Christmas cards and magazine subscriptions, the latter being the least successful.

The seniors, having the habit by this time of breaking traditions, did it again by changing the Christmas Pageant and letting the Glee Club present the program (even though the seniors assisted in special lighting). A tradition we unanimously agreed not to change was the Christmas holidays. Although they were shortened to seven school days, they were seven glorious days. We were greeted with semi-final exams upon our return. Immediately following our exams we concentrated all our energies, well, most of them, on soliciting ads for the 1951 Pioneer. This adventure brought about a moderate success. Then came the task of composing articles for the annual. This we did over a period of time. Oh, well! Rome wasn't built in a day either.

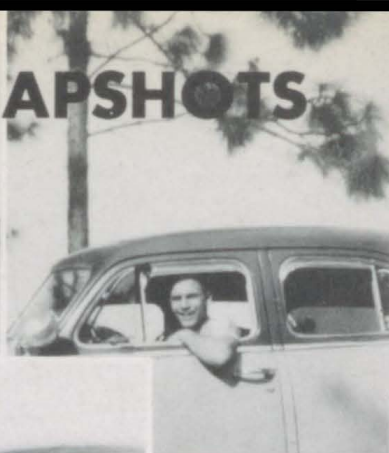

Next came the selection of the senior play and cast. This was a difficult task for the director, Mrs. E. L. Mason, since we have a small class of nine boys and four girls. On the night of the play the audience failed to take the advice of the title, "Take It Easy," but literally rolled in the aisles with laughter. In brief, the play was a great success.

On Friday night, May twenty-fifth, at eight o'clock in the high school auditorium, our high school career was climaxed; we each solemnly received our diplomas. In this one brief night the first phase of our lives was ended.
